ENG 1.36 When will Enbridge begin negotiating on price with Illinois landowners?

Response prepared by:

Name: Dale Burgess

Title: Director Southern Access

Address: 10201 Jasper Ave.
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

Enbridge plans to begin detailed discussions for fair compensation offers in acquiring right-of-way easements for its Southern Access Expansion project in the state of Illinois in November 2006. Enbridge proposes to start its negotiation process with the use of options as the bases for the compensation offers. Negotiating land rights for a proposed pipeline project means working with the landowners through a multi-stage negotiation process, with a goal to secure land rights for the most practical pipeline routing location and to pay a fair compensation for such land rights. Enbridge believes that this multi-stage process of discussions, bargaining, and negotiating with its landowners provides the platform necessary to demonstrate good faith negotiations throughout the entire process with its landowners. Enbridge has been and continues to be heavily engaged in discussions and bargaining negotiations with its landowners as the preliminary pipeline routing is confirmed through survey consents, environmental assessments, and landowner /stakeholder involvement. Further details will be provided in Enbridge's evidentiary submissions.

Landowner negotiations are not contingent upon any federal, state, or local agency approval process. As noted, Enbridge has been in discussions with landowners for a substantial period on various matters. The stages of the negotiations are dependent upon events such as data gatherings, route analysis, landowner identification and notification, etc., events Enbridge has actively underway. However, it is noted that a final agricultural protection and mitigation plan has not yet been signed with the Illinois Department of Agriculture for the Manhattan-to-Streator segment. It is expected that this agreement will mirror the existing such agreement for the Stage II route (agreement requires waiting period before contacting landowners).

As explained in ICC Data Request ENG 1.36, Enbridge will begin detailed discussions for negotiating fair compensation offers on in November 2006. This date falls well within the timeframe of the discovery phase in this proceeding. Enbridge fully anticipates and believes that its landowner negotiations will proceed in a positive manner to acquire land rights through voluntary arrangements with its landowners. Enbridge will keep the Staff informed of its progress and will provide detailed information in its evidentiary submissions and via supplements to this response.

All bidding contractors will have to pass certain minimum qualifications to be considered for the construction contract. Enbridge will ensure each bidding contractor meets the following pre-bid criteria and these criteria are included when sending requests for bids to the list of contractors:

- Worker drug testing plan and results of drug and alcohol testing audits as required and posted in the management systems for pipeline contractors and as required by 49 CFR Part 199.
- Safety Training verified through ISNetwork RAVS (review and verification service). Contractor must achieve 100% compliance with tasks and sub tasks being bid.
- Acceptable worker safety record as evidenced by Lost time accident rate verified by current EMR, typically under 1.00. Detailed explanation required if over 1.00
- Operator Qualification (OQ) certification for covered work (as required under 49 CFR Part 195 for federal regulation of pipelines) as listed through ISNetwork
- Adequate financial strength to fund that portion of the project being bid as demonstrated by D&B reports and/or Audited Financial Reports and/or Bonding ability .
- Bidding contractors (and/or supervisory and executive personnel) must have experience in the construction of 42" pipelines, have a demonstrated record of and commitment to safety, high quality workmanship, and adherence to schedules.
- Assessment of bidding company access to sufficient resources to complete the portion of the project being bid.

Once bids are received, Enbridge examines the various bids and award the project work to those contractors that best meet Enbridge's needs with respect to workmanship, safety, schedule, and cost.

Enbridge has not yet awarded work to the contractor for the expansion work in Illinois.

ENG 1.40 If both the Keystone and the Enbridge pipelines are approved and constructed, is there currently enough demand for supplies in Illinois and nearby areas to operate both pipelines near capacity? Explain the basis for this answer.

Response prepared by:

Name: Dale Burgess
Title: Director Southern Access
Address: 10201 Jasper Ave.
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

The total refining capacity accessible by the Southern Access Expansion and the Keystone pipeline exceeds 3 million barrels per day (b/d). The Great Lakes region, with a refining capacity of over 1,200,000 b/d, is primarily served by Enbridge, although the Keystone pipeline can also physically supply the area at a significantly higher transportation cost. As detailed in Table 1, current Canadian crude runs in the Great Lakes region are about 650,000 b/d, leaving a potential of up to 450,000 b/d for additional Canadian crude runs in the region, based on current refinery capacities. Ultimate incremental Canadian crude demand may be higher, as Sunoco has indicated that it intends to expand its Toledo refinery by 40,000 b/d.¹ More recently, BP has announced that it is in the final planning stages of a $3 billion investment to increase the Canadian crude processing capacity of its Whiting refinery by some 260,000 b/d.²

In addition to the refineries listed for the Great Lakes area, there is another 450,000 b/d of refinery capacity located in the Canadian province of Ontario, plus a 67,000 b/d refinery in western Pennsylvania, that are also supplied via the Enbridge system. The Ontario refineries receive crude from both Western Canada, via Enbridge, and the East via the Portland/Montréal Pipeline. This latter pipeline originates in Portland, Maine, where waterborne crude deliveries are made. Through May 2006, the Ontario refineries received approximately 112,000 b/d of crude from the East.³ Thus, there is also the potential for higher Western Canadian crude runs in Ontario.

The Lower Midwest region, encompassing the southern parts of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, has a total refining capacity of about 960,000 b/d, but only processes approximately 100,000 b/d of Canadian crude. Both the Enbridge, via Mustang, and Keystone pipelines can supply the Lower Midwest region. The owners of the three largest refineries this region are all engaged in efforts to increase the refinery capabilities to process Canadian crude. ConocoPhillips has indicated that it plans to both expand and upgrade its Wood River refinery (306,000 b/d) to process more Canadian crude.⁴ Marathon has indicated that it is studying a 150,000 b/d expansion at its Robinson refinery to process Canadian crude, and an upgrade to the Catlettsburg refinery to enable it to run up to 170,000 b/d of Canadian crude.⁵ In addition to the regional refineries, the 66,000 b/d Pegasus pipeline transports Canadian crude from Patoka, a crude pipeline hub located in southern Illinois, to the U.S. Gulf Coast.

The Mid-Continent region has a refining capacity of approximately 850,000 b/d, and processed only about 50,000 b/d of Canadian crude through July 2006. The Enbridge pipeline can supply this region via the Spearhead pipeline, whereas the Keystone pipeline would have to construct a lateral pipeline from the main line to the Wood River area to reach the Mid-Continent. In addition to the refineries listed, there are two more refineries in the region with a capacity totaling about 240,000 b/d that may become accessible to Canadian crude if local pipeline connections are made. As is the case in the Great Lakes and Lower Midwest regions, refiners in the Mid-Continent are also taking action to increase their capability to process Canadian crude. ConocoPhillips is adding a new coker to its Borger refinery, and has indicated that a major source of feedstock will be crude from Canada.⁶ Frontier is spending $150 million at its El Dorado refinery to increase crude runs and expand the capability to process heavy crude, presumably from Canada.⁷

The refineries in the regions accessible by the Enbridge and Keystone pipelines have a total refining capacity of over 3,000,000 b/d, but currently process 800,000 b/d of Canadian crude. Subtracting the production of local Midwestern crude (439,000 b/d in 2005), this leaves a potential market demand for Canadian crude of over 1,500,000 b/d. In addition, there is additional potential demand for Canadian crude in Ontario that is in addition to these figures. In contrast, the combined capacity of the Enbridge Southern Expansion and the Keystone pipeline is about 800,000 b/d. In summary, the potential Canadian crude demand can comfortably support both the Enbridge and Keystone pipelines.

As stated above, Enbridge views negotiating for land and land rights as a multi-stage process in order for an equitable and voluntary arrangement to be reached with its landowners. Numerous phone calls, face-to-face meetings and written communications have been involved to initially notify and keep landowners informed on the progress of a proposed project crossing their land. To date, Enbridge has averaged approximately six (6) contacts for each landowner located along its Stage 2 route (Wisconsin/Illinois border in Boone Co. to Enbridge's Flanagan tank terminal in Livingston Co.), equaling approximately 2,010 contacts in total. Additionally, Enbridge has made, in total, approximately 262 contacts to those landowners of tax record along its proposed Manhattan-to-Streator segment in Will, Grundy and LaSalle Counties.

Beginning in November 2006, Enbridge plans to commence its detailed discussions and negotiations for fair compensation offers for land rights with its landowners. As these land negotiations progress, Enbridge will provide the ICC Staff with updates as that information becomes available during this discovery phase of this proceeding.

ENG 1.44 Will BP complete its $3 billion capital project at the Whiting, Indiana refinery even if Enbridge fails to receive permission to construct the proposed pipeline? Explain why or why not. Indicate the source of the information provided.

Response prepared by:

Name: Dale Burgess

Title: Director Southern Access

Address: 10201 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

In response to the above data request, Enbridge received the following response from BP regarding the need for additional pipeline capacity to its Whiting, Indiana refinery:

"BP approved both a $3 billion Whiting project and necessary long term financial commitment to support new pipeline construction from Alberta. If the Enbridge pipeline is not constructed, BP would pursue the construction of another pipeline. If no new pipeline capacity is built, BP would have to re-evaluate the Whiting project. "
Source: Dave Nelson, BP America, Inc., Midwest Manager, Business Development.

As BP has already stated in its testimony filed on Dec. 21, 2006, the completion of Enbridge's expansion program is "critical" to BP's refining needs at Whiting and without the construction of Enbridge's line "there will not be sufficient pipeline capacity to meet the future needs of Midwest refiners," with the result that such refiners, including BP, will be "forced to run less desirable crude oils, thereby producing a sub optimal product slate." BP has also made clear that its plan is to "run an additional 260,000 barrels per day of Canadian crude oil" at Whiting and that having the "pipeline infrastructure" represented by the Southern Access Expansion Program "is fundamental for making [BP's] project viable." As well, BP has stated that lack of access to Canadian crude "will make Midwest refineries [e.g., Whiting] less competitive" and that "[t]he combined efforts of Enbridge's Southern Access pipeline project expansion and BP's Whiting Refinery investment" are necessary to provide the benefits of a secure, stable, economic, and adequate supply of petroleum products to the "consuming public." Such benefits include the "capability to produce up to 15 percent additional motor fuels" that will result from BP's Whiting expansion.

ENG 1.46 Is Enbridge aware of any other proposed pipelines that would bring Canadian crude into the region and lessen the need for the proposed Enbridge pipeline?

Response prepared by:

Name: Dale Burgess

Title: Director Southern Access

Address: 10201 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

Enbridge is not aware of any other proposed pipeline that would bring Canadian crude into the Chicago area refineries region and lessen the need for the proposed Enbridge pipeline. As stated in Enbridge's Application filed in June 2006, "TransCanada's proposed "Keystone" line would serve Wood River and not the Chicago-area refinery market" (See Footnote 12, Page 23).

Therefore, the TransCanada's Keystone project and Enbridge's Southern Access Expansion project, as proposed in ICC Docket No. 06-0470, are not competing projects for the same market areas.

ENG 1.47 When does Enbridge expect it will have made an offer to each and every landowner along the proposed routes?

Response prepared by:

Title: Director Southern Access

Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

Enbridge understands this request to address the presentation to each landowner of an offer of a specific dollar amount for the acquisition of the actual easement interest(s) required in each tract. As indicated in Enbridge Exhibit 2 (lines 209-288), Enbridge has been negotiating with landowners for months concerning such matters as the Southern Access and Southern Lights projects, the potential routing of each, the potential placement of rights-of-way and workspaces within tracts, accommodations of landowner concerns, and mitigation of impacts. As noted (id. and infra at Response to ENG 1.51), preparation of final easements requires completion of detailed civil and environmental surveys and Enbridge is in the process of performing such surveys, having already acquired written survey permission from the great majority of the several hundred landowners holding the 700-plus tracts comprising the routes. To expedite this process, Enbridge is contacting landowners and soliciting options for the purchase of easements. This process began in November of 2006 and is continuing. The option documentation (examples of which have been provided to the Staff) includes a preliminary sketch of the easement locations and details (supplanted later by a final plat document) which must be prepared from survey results as they become available. The surveying process is currently proceeding along the Southern Access route from north to south and, accordingly, Enbridge is now preparing option documentation for tracts in Boone and DeKalb Counties. As the documentation is completed, easement acreages are computed and valuations assessed, based on Enbridge's policy of offering fee values for easement interests, so option packages can be prepared and presented with actual dollar values (which are adjusted as required by final survey results). Enbridge is proceeding as rapidly as possible with this process and hopes to complete it -- the presentation of options -- by the end of the first quarter of 2007, so that preliminary construction work can begin at selected sites. However, it is not possible to state a specific date by which "each and every landowner" will have been presented with an option package. It is, of course, in Enbridge's own interest to advance this effort as expeditiously as possible and that is Enbridge's intention.

Enbridge made its first offer to its affected landowners on November 30, 2006, and is continuing to submit options to its landowners as the proposed pipeline route is confirmed through the multi-phase negotiation process as explained above.

ICC Staff Data Request

ENG 1.49 How many land agents does Enbridge have working on the Illinois portion of this project? Are these individuals devoting themselves entirely to the Illinois portion of this project? If not, what portion of his/her time is each of them devoting to easement negotiations for the Illinois portion of this project?

Response prepared by:

Name: Dale Burgess

Title: Director Southern Access

Address: 10201 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

Enbridge has six (6) experienced land agents working on the Illinois portion of the proposed project. These agents devote 100% of their time to working with the affecting landowners in acquiring land rights through the multi-phase negotiating process, which includes securing survey permission rights, negotiating location of pipeline on the landowners' property, and making offers for compensation.

As filed in Doug Aller's direct testimony on Dec. 21, 2006, Enbridge has established a field right-of-way office in Sycamore, Illinois, and hired ten (10) experienced right-of-way personnel, who were then trained in Enbridge's policies and standards for acquiring land rights. The office is staffed with six (6) land agents, three administrative office employees and one right-of-way supervisor, who devote 100% of their time to the proposed project. The administrative employees manage the daily office functions such as taking phone calls and maintaining landowner data bases and communication logs. The right-of-way supervisor is responsible for the overall right-of-way activities to acquire land rights for the proposed Southern Access Expansion and Southern Lights project in the State of Illinois.

Enbridge has also hired a Public Communications Manager who is based in Illinois and dedicated to the Southern Access Expansion and Southern Lights project in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin. This person is responsible for communicating information about the proposed project to local and state public officials.

In addition to the personnel mentioned above, Enbridge has established a public internet web site location at <http://www.enbridge-expansion.com/expansion/> which contains the latest information about the Enbridge Expansion projects throughout the midwestern states, including Illinois. This web site also provides stakeholders with an array of information about the Illinois project, including a map and points of contact if more information is needed.

ICC Staff Data Request

ENG 1.50 Has Enbridge identified and made contact with every landowner along the entire proposed routes for both the Southern Lights and the Southern Access projects? Response prepared by:

Title: Director Southern Access

Address: 10201 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton, AB T5J 3N7

To date, Enbridge has identified and made contacts with each and every landowner along the proposed route for Stage 2 Southern Access Expansion and Southern Lights ("SL") and SL's Manhattan-to-Streator Lateral. However, if the situation would arise where Enbridge is unable to identify and/or make contact with a certain landowner due to a deviation in the proposed pipeline route, Enbridge would use the following due diligence procedures to locate such landowner(s).

1. Part of Enbridge's Right-of-Way Acquisition standards is to perform full title work on all tracts of land to determine the correct name and address of the landowner.
2. If title work is inconclusive, Enbridge contacts the name listed on the county tax roll to help identify the correct name and address of the landowner.
3. If due diligence work from Nos. 1 and 2 above is inconclusive, Enbridge sends its land agents to talk with neighbors to glean as much information as possible to help identify the correct name and address of the landowner.
4. If due diligence work from Nos. 1, 2 and 3 prove to be inconclusive as well, Enbridge would use the World Wide Web as its tool to research various public databases to help identify the correct name and address of the landowner.
5. If all of the above proves to be inconclusive, Enbridge would conclude that it had made a good-faith effort to identify the correct name and address of the landowner, and then pursue legal alternatives as applicable under state laws, such as notice by publication.

ENG 1.51 Update ENG 1.41 and continue to provide monthly updates for the remainder of the discovery phase of this docket. Enclosed hereto as Attachment A is the information needed to update the ICC Data Request No. 1.41 for the Southern Access Expansion and Southern Lights project. Enbridge is also including in this attachment the date of the last contact and the current status of the negotiations for each landowner associated with the proposed pipeline route for Stage 2 of Southern Access Expansion and Southern Lights and the proposed pipeline route for Southern Lights' Manhattan to Streator lateral.

Additionally, Enbridge is providing the following information to explain its process in acquiring survey permission from its affected landowners:

Part of Enbridge's easement-acquisition process is the performance of detailed geographic and environmental surveys of each parcel, or "tract," that will be part of the pipelines' rights-of-way. To perform these surveys, Enbridge solicits written permission from each landowner authorizing Enbridge to enter the landowner's property and inspect and survey the areas under consideration for use as permanent and temporary easements, as well as the general configuration and condition of the larger property itself. Enbridge's right-of-way agents solicit such survey permission by personally contacting landowners; presenting and explaining the survey permission form, which indemnifies the landowner from liability for any injury to Enbridge personnel; reviewing with the landowner Enbridge's project plans and specific requirements for each tract; and answering landowner questions about pipeline construction procedures and schedules, agricultural and other impacts, and acquisition policies. These contacts are made on a face-to-face basis and may involve several meetings or conversations; however, if the landowner is not a resident in Illinois and cannot be personally visited (a rare situation), Enbridge either deals with the landowner by mail and telephone or with the landowner's designated representative (tenant, family member, attorney, etc.). Virtually all of the identified landowners along the collocated Southern Access/Southern Lights route and along the Southern Lights Lateral route have been solicited for survey permission. To date (as of 1/17/07), Enbridge has received survey permission from approximately eighty-eight percent (88%) of the landowners along the collocated route and from over seventy percent (70%) of the landowners along the lateral route. The survey-permit forms are retained in Enbridge's tract files.
